Welcome to Environment Australia's Online Image Database

The Environment Australia Online Image Database has been developed to provide the community with access to our photographic collection.

The image database contains images Environment Australia owns and that are copyright cleared and available free of charge for use by the media, students and industry organisations (but not for use in advertising or other commercial purposes).

We are very happy to provide this resource to help promote environmental issues and for educational purposes.

New images are added to the database regularly, but if you are unable to find the image you need or if you would like additional information please contact our Online Image Database Manager.
